

10 WAYS TO TEACH CHILDREN INTEGRITY

1. Drive the speed limit.
2. Never ask your children to lie for you.
3. Apologize when you wrong your children.
4. Send them to the store with more money than they need to buy a particular item. When they come out, see if they offer the change. Deal with them accordingly.
5. Never tolerate even the smallest lie.
6. Pick someone out of the newspaper who committed a crime and ask the kids their opinion about it.
7. Fathers, never allow your sons to be disrespectful or rude to their mother.
8. Set up task that require their follow-through without supervision and see if they carry out instructions of their own.
9. Take your children to visit their ancestors' graves. If you know any stories about these ancestors (positive or negative) share them with your kids.
10. Have them memorize 20 verses on integrity. (hint: the 10 commandments and the book of Proverbs are great places to start)

10 WAYS TO TEACH CHILDREN FAITH

1. Let them find you reading your Bible every morning when they arise.
2. Have them pray at meals and at bedtime.
3. Buy them their own Bible and encourage them to read it.
4. Don't drop your kids off for church, be WITH them in church.
5. Plant a garden and explain how you have to exercise patience and trust in God's laws of nature.
6. Have them prepare a 2-3 minute testimony about their faith in God.
7. Have them share their testimony with a friend.
8. Remind them of answered prayer.
9. Pray for an unsaved or sick friend or relative every day.
10. Take them with you to feed the homeless.

Bonus: In the spring, plan an October trip to Wrigley Field. (Now that's faith!)
